

10 MORE Things You Can Organize While Staying at Home

Tips brought to you by Organizer Jamie Novak

1. Email

Sort your emails by sender or oldest first to find some to delete. Or search a specific sender to delete them. Don't forget to unsubscribe first.

2. To Be Read Pile

Read something from the to-be read pile and process it – don't just stick it in a new pile.

3. Entryway

Clear the entryway so it is easier to clean when you come back home.

4. Clutter Covered Chair

Clear all that stuff you dropped on a chair, bench, or in the corner. Notice what's there, maybe you can create storage nearby to prevent the pile-up.

5. Food Storage Containers

Match food container lids to containers. Keep a few out, store excess elsewhere, as you need them you can grab them.

6. Recipes & Cookbooks

Let go of cookbooks you never use, try out recipes you've been clipping out and waiting to try later. You might even craft a simple meal plan.

7. Notes/Scraps of Paper

Gather and sort your scraps of paper and notes. Set up one place to jot down notes. And put a date so you remember when it is from.

8. Bathroom

Medicine cabinet, vanity drawer, make-up, or any other category that needs to be pared down, this includes tiny toiletries.

9. Craft & Hobby Stuff

Toss that dried up glue stick, the marker that no longer writes.

10. The "to be fixed" pile

Today is the day to fix all that stuff you've been meaning to. Sew the button on, glue the handle back on the mug, or let it go.
